

BACKGROUND

First evidence of self management ~1950

"Empirical evidence of self-managing teams can be traced to the 1950s when British scientist Eric Trist reported on self-regulating coal miners in his now famous article, 'Some Social and Psychological Consequences of the Longwall Method of Coal Getting.'"

- Eric Trist

<https://corporate-rebels.com/reinventing-the-wheel/>